Five Seasons Landscape Management becomes PLANET AEF Ambassador

With its contribution of $25,000 to the PLANET Academic Excellence Foundation (PLANET AEF) scholarship fund, Five Seasons Landscape Management distinguishes itself as a new PLANET AEF Ambassador.

The PLANET AEF scholarship fund was formed to award scholarships and fund educational activities for the green industry. PLANET AEF's mission is to promote and advance the lawn and landscape services industry by supporting educational excellence. PLANET AEF Ambassadors are entitled to name and establish the criteria for their scholarships.

Five Seasons Landscape Management, Inc., established in 1997 by Bill Leidecker, CLP, and Steve Woods, CLP, is ranked by Business First as the fifth largest landscape maintenance company in central Ohio. A full-service landscape management company, Five Seasons focuses on commercial maintenance with a customer base that includes multifamily residential buildings (apartments, condos, and elderly living), office buildings, retail centers, and business parks. Five Seasons also works in the custom landscape design marketplace, offering design and installation to both commercial and residential customers, as well as snow and ice management.

"As owners of businesses and industry leaders, we have an obligation to provide fuel for future generations of business owners," says Leidecker. "We at Five Seasons believe that it's not what you take but what you leave behind that's important. We try to live by that mantra. We believe in providing future generations who are interested in making the landscape industry their career choice the opportunity to do so."
